

HISPASAT for the first time attends Radio TV Forum in Rome

- At this event, the satellite operator presents its latest advances along with Europe's main radio, television and Internet operators.

Madrid, 27th May, 2013 – HISPASAT, the Spanish satellite communications operator, will display tomorrow in Rome at the “Radio TV Forum 2013”, the latest developments in the advanced satellite telecommunications services it offers from its orbital positions. HISPASAT will present for the first time at this event, along with Europe's top radio, television and Internet operators, as well as audiovisual companies that attend the show. In this way, HISPASAT continues to strengthen its position in Europe, America and other strategic regions.

The Radio TV Forum, which takes place this year on the 28th and 29th of May, is the most important annual event in the telecommunications field in Italy. In it, the main operators present the latest advances in the market for the provision of telecommunications services.
